

Community Reporting

Reduce reporting times and keep officers on patrol.

Our new product feature to support Community Self-Reporting leverages the power of online RMS Custom Forms, giving agencies a secure, web-hosted point of contact where the public can submit non-emergency crime reports.

Caliber Community Reporting allows agencies to create and customize their own public forms, making them more effective as they are tailored to their unique set of needs and requirements. Agencies can make these forms available to the public via the agency's own website.

Promote social distancing by reducing officer to public interactions for minor police reports.

Better service your community by reducing non-essential contacts to make sure officers are available to provide help when emergencies arise.

Keep officers on patrol and protecting communities by offering an alternate method for the public to report minor police reports without the need to dispatch an officer.

Caliber Community Reporting will be available as a complementary enhancement to all Caliber Online RMS Plus subscribers through the end of 2020.
